

FROM THE BLOG

A list things to do on the last day of classes, but we know you're probably just going to drink all day

By Tait Gamble April 4, 2019 · 2 min read

Share

Tweet

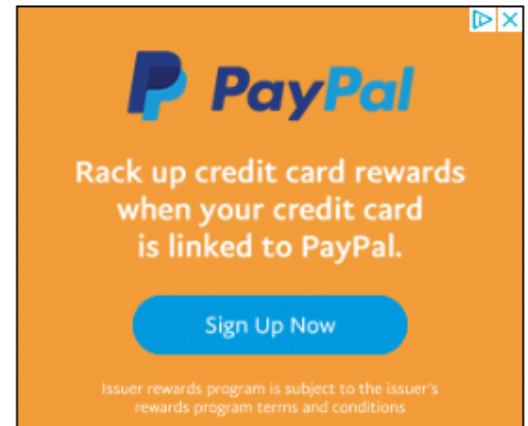

Tyga? Slander? Cash Cash? Sounds like the most powerful musical trifecta ever unified by student government. File The Ubyssy

While finals are on the horizon, the summer is only a few weeks away. Your midterms are finished. Your papers are submitted. The sun might start shining. Things are looking up! Here are some ways to celebrate.

Attend the Cherry Blossom Festival kick off

Help kick off the 13th Annual Vancouver Cherry Blossom festival at the Cherry Jam Downtown. The event starts at 12 p.m., so join your fellow Vancouverites at the Burrard SkyTrain Station. The event will feature local talents and memorable performances to celebrate the arrival of cherry blossoms. Enjoy some musical performance and haikus to celebrate the arrival of spring this last day of classes (LDOC).

PayPal

Rack up credit card rewards when your credit card is linked to PayPal.

Sign Up Now

Issuer rewards program is subject to the issuer's rewards program terms and conditions